

Privacy Policy for Timeo Williams' Personal Dashboard
Last Updated: February 23, 2025

This Privacy Policy explains how Timeo Williams' Personal Dashboard ("the Dashboard") collects, uses, and protects your personal information when you use the Dashboard with Plaid to connect your financial accounts.

1. Data Collection

- We use Plaid to securely connect to your financial accounts. Plaid may collect data such as account balances, transaction history, and account details as outlined in Plaid's End User Privacy Policy (<https://plaid.com/legal/#end-user-privacy-policy>).
- The Dashboard collects this data solely for personal financial overview purposes.

2. Data Use

- Your data is used to display your financial information (e.g., net worth, account balances) within the Dashboard.
- No data is shared with third parties beyond what is required to integrate with Plaid.

3. Data Security

- Data is stored locally on your device or securely in transit via Plaid's encrypted services.
- We do not store your financial data on external servers unless explicitly configured by you in a production environment.

4. Your Rights

- You can disconnect your accounts from the Dashboard at any time via the interface.
- For questions, contact [your email].

This is a personal project and not a commercial service. For more details on how Plaid handles your data, refer to their privacy policy linked above.
